

University Corporate Survey Policy

Section 1 - Purpose

(1) This policy defines the governing entity for all corporate survey activities, the survey reference group, through the attached Terms of Reference, as well as the related Survey Register and Survey Procedures.

(2) The intent of this policy is to provide a coordinated approach to corporate survey management in-line with the survey reference group Terms of Reference through:

- a. ensuring appropriate access and use of survey data and personal Information including: collection, storage, reporting and use of results post-survey;
- b. improving the utilisation of information collected during the survey process;
- c. guaranteeing core University surveys remain a priority and strategically aligned; and
- d. avoiding respondent survey fatigue and improving response rates.

Section 2 - Scope

(3) The scope of this policy includes all corporate surveys conducted by University staff and University business units, and surveys conducted on behalf of the University by external entities that seek data from students (potential, current, or graduated), staff (administrative and academic), employers, or other related entities.

(4) The scope of this policy includes all requests to implement new corporate ad hoc and core surveys, including changes to existing core surveys to be offered to stakeholders of the University including:

- a. Past students, present students and potential students;
- b. past and present staff;
- c. external stakeholders including members of the public, industry and government; and
- d. surveys completed orally or online.

(5) The scope of this policy includes requests to access existing University corporate survey data for the purposes of a research project or corporate program.

(6) The scope of this policy excludes surveys undertaken as part of a project by University students or staff for the purposes of conducting research or completing any course requirements at the University (e.g unit satisfaction surveys).

Section 3 - Principles

(7) Surveys are a critical part of the University's Quality and Standards Framework to inform the University's performance improvement work.

(8) New core or non-core surveys as defined in this policy require approval from the survey reference group prior to being administered.

(9) The survey reference group will provide advice regarding access to, and use of, University survey data to undertake research to be externally published or presented. Depending on the nature of the request, requests may be referred to the Deputy Vice-Chancellor (DVC) for consideration.

(10) Approved surveys will be included in the University Survey Register by the Manager of Institutional Research prior to being administered.

(11) The survey owner shall develop a survey procedure and survey collection notice that outlines the process for requesting approval to execute new core or non-core surveys:

- a. a survey procedure providing guidance on the process to request approval to execute a new core or non-core survey, including methodology, sample, stakeholder group and timing of existing approved surveys;
- b. a survey collection notice that may also include other elements as may be deemed required by the Manager of Institutional Research such as risk assessments, risk registers and privacy impact assessments; and,
- c. confirmation of compliance by survey owners with relevant University of Canberra policies and Australian Capital Territory and Commonwealth of Australia legislative instruments that may be in force from time to time.

(12) Individual responses and personal information collected as part of the survey process will be managed in accordance with the Survey Collection Notice, the University's Privacy Policy, the Information Privacy Act 2014, the Territory Privacy Principles, and as relevant the Privacy Act 1988 and the Australian Privacy Principles.

(13) The release of raw data from core university surveys must require approval from the survey reference group and the release of raw data at no times shall compromise the privacy of participants or the integrity of the instrument, breach relevant legislation, codes of practice, or breach relevant terms and conditions of the survey.

(14) Prizes offered as an incentive to respondents must comply with ACT Gambling and Racing Commission requirements, including submission of the relevant permit and fees to the Commission.

Section 4 - Responsibilities

(15) The members and responsibilities for the survey reference group are detailed in the Survey Reference Group Terms of Reference.
