

Employee Background Checks Policy

Section 1 - Purpose

(1) Employee Background Checks are a crucial part of the recruitment process. They help the University of Canberra (University) determine whether a candidate possesses qualifications, skills, and experience required by the role and ensure there are no impediments in carrying out the role.

(2) This Policy seeks to ensure:

- a. the recruitment of high-quality and trustworthy employees;
- b. the University is meeting legislative obligations; and
- c. the University can manage risk in the interest of sound corporate governance.

Background

(3) The Tertiary Education Quality and Standards Agency (TEQSA) has outlined specific requirements for tertiary institutions and teaching personnel, including that:

- a. members of the higher education provider's corporate governing body and the higher education provider's key personnel are able to demonstrate that they are "fit and proper" persons; and
- b. staff with responsibilities for academic oversight, teaching and supervisory roles have a qualification in a relevant discipline at least one level higher than the course of study (as per Australian Qualifications Framework), or equivalent relevant academic or professional expertise.

(4) Some roles may require an employee to hold current registration with a professional body (e.g. Registered Health Professional, Chartered Accountant, Lawyer etc.)

(5) University staff are often engaged in sensitive conversations or have access to sensitive data relating to its students and/or research. The University must ensure that the staff who have access to this data, or are engaged in these conversations, are appropriately risk assessed in line with community standards and expectations.

(6) The University has roles where trustworthiness and integrity are deemed as inherent requirements of the position, for example roles with certain financial delegations; access to sensitive or confidential information; or access to/working with Vulnerable Persons.

(7) If the University engages with sensitive Defence or other Government research it may be necessary for relevant staff to obtain Government security clearances at the appropriate level. These situations will be dealt with on a case-by-case basis and will not be covered in this Policy.

Section 2 - Scope

(8) This Policy applies to all new contracts for current and prospective University staff occupying a position that has been identified as requiring an Employee Background Check from the effective date of this Policy.

(9) The Policy does not preclude the University from requiring an employee to undergo further Employee Background Checks in the course of their employment for whatever reason, including, but not limited to:

- a. because the University deems that such an Employee Background Check is required in order for the employee to satisfactorily continue to perform their duties;
- b. because the University deems that such an Employee Background Check is necessary to comply with its obligations under legislation; and/or
- c. because a third party with whom the employee in question deals with in the course of their University duties requires an Employee Background Check to be carried out, and any associated clearance to be attained, prior to that employee performing any further work with them.

Section 3 - Principles

(10) The University is committed to upholding a culture that provides a safe environment for our students, staff, visitors and other partners.

(11) The University is committed to aligning with community standards and expectations as they relate to informed and risk-assessed recruitment.

(12) The University recognises its responsibility with regard to compliance with the requirements of legislation, relevant Government agencies, and tertiary education accrediting bodies.
